Art Unit: 3682

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Talbot US 1,986,027. Talbot discloses a device for controlling contact rolls, having a neck (3a) supported in roller bearings (8) in a bearing support housing (6) of a roll stand, the neck having a neck extension (column 2, line 40) which is supported in an axial support bearing (15, 16, 17, and column 2, lines 48-50) the support bearing having a bearing housing (27) which is connected externally (by bolts 28) to the bearing support housing, and intermediate housing (14) which is inserted into the bearing housing and cylindrically encloses the axial support bearing, and a piston-cylinder unit (42, 43) operatively arranged for adjustably displacing the intermediate housing in the bearing housing in a radial direction relative to the axis of the neck extension.

With respect to claim 2, the piston-cylinder unit shown in Figure 1 consists of an internal cylindrical recess (inner surface of cylinder 43), which extends radially relative to the axis of the bearing housing enclosing the intermediate housing, and a floating piston (42) which can be displaced in the cylindrical recess and actuated by a hydraulic medium.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Talbot.

Art Unit: 3682

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the roll mounting such that the teaching of hydraulically actuated secondary bearings are utilized with hydraulic oil film bearings, because the use of oil film bearings in roll mills is notoriously old and well known, the teachings of Talbot being equally applicable to such oil film bearings, such as to minimize the bearing play in the oil film bearing.

Applicant's arguments filed July 31, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the "different objectives") are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Applicant has failed to particularly point out any differences between the structure set forth in the claims and the structure presented by Talbot.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3682
